TELEGRAPHED BACK THAT THEY HAD WED.

Jack Walsh and Miss Mamie Kelly Are Now Enjoying a Honeymoon Trip.

BRIDE'S PARENTS ARE VEXED

They Disapproved of the Match, but Walsh Was a Persistent and Persuasive Suitor, and Won.

Jack Walsh of No. 4826 Easton avenue, graduate of the Christian Brothers' College, and Miss Mamie Kelly, daughter of Joseph Kelly, a builder, living at No. 4821 Easter avenue, were married yesterday and departed on a wedding trip in the afternoon.

The first intimation friends and relative of the couple had of the wedding was a telegram sent from St. Charles, signed by Walsh, announcing that he and Miss Kelly had been married by Father Dempay of Annunciation Parish, and requesting Miss Rose Williams, to whom the message was sent, to break the news to the parents of the

The message did not state the destination of the couple or when they would return, but, as Walsh's parents live in Quincy, Ill., it is thought they may spend a few days there. The announcement of the wedding caused the greatest interest in Annunciation Parish, where the young people were well known.

Parish, where the young people were weak known.

Neighbors say that Miss Kelly's parents objected to the match and had requested Walsh to keep away from the Kelly residence. Walsh moved into a house in the immediate neighborhood of the Kelly flat and continued his attentions to the girl.

Mrs. Kelly, mother of the bride, was greatly wrought up by the news of the marriage. She said she had not approved of the match, Miss Becker of No. 405 Easton avenue, where Walsh hoarded, said he had given her no intimation of his intentions, and she did not know when to expect him home.

Walsh is a clerk in the Missouri Pacific offices and was graduated last year from the Christian Brothers' College. He was a member of the baseball and football teams of that institution and was a prominent figure in school athletics. His father is a conductor on an Illinois railroad.

RICE WILL CASES UP AGAIN.

Patrick Secures Adjournment of Case Until November.

New York, June B.—The matter of the two wills of William Marsh Rice, the rich old Texan, who is supposed to have been hurried to his end, came before Surrogate Fitzgerald again to-day on the application of counsel for Albert T. Patrick and the heirs under the will of 1990 for delay, and the application of the heirs under the will of 1856—the so-called Texas will—for a speedy disposition of the lasue.

Mr. Cantwell, for Patrick, opened the proceedings by asking for an adjournment until after the disposal of the criminal charges against Patrick.

The court was urged to make the 3d-fournment as brief as possible, and it was declared that the Rice institute—the chief beneficiary under the 1896 will—needs the money, and delay in the apportionment of the Rice estate would keep many young men from an education. Opposing counsidenied that the institute was in need, and delay for a reasonable time could not hurt anyone.

CORNELIUS V. WARD DEAD.

St. Nicholas Hotel Manager Succumbs After Brief Illness.

Cornellus V. Ward, manager of the St. Nicholas Hotel, died shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in his apartments at the hotel. He had been Ill for about ten days, but it was only yesterday morning that his condition was considered serious. Tuesday Mr. Ward appeared better and was able to leave his bed.

Yesterday morning he complained of great weakness. His condition grew steadily worse until he expired. With Mr. Ward at the time of his death were his wife and several intimate friends. His son and daughter, who live in Toronto, Canada, were telegraphed for and are on their way to St. Louis. The funeral arrangements will not be made until their arrival.

Mr. Ward was St years old, and had been in charge of the St. Nicholas Hotel since August, 1883. He came to St. Louis from Kansas City, where he had been connected with the Coates House. He was known throughout the United States and Canada as a hotel man. He had a wide experience in the management of hotels.

OFFICERS MAY WEAR MEDALS.

Condition Is That They Be Inher ited From Illustrious Ancestors.

Washington, June 19.—Army and navy officers may hereafter cover their breasts with medals, insignia or decorations, provided they were handed down to them by anoestors who distinguished themselves in American wars. This is the practical effect of an opinion rendered by Attorney General Knox to the Navy Department.

The question was raised by Lieutenant W. F. Kellogs, who recently wrote a letter to Secretary Long asking to be informed if it were permissible for him to wear the decorations of the Order of the Copial Legion, in which he enjoyed membership, both by inheritance and by election.

COUNT CASSINI'S STATEMENT.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Washington, June 12.—Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador, to-day expressed some very clear and conciliatory views on the tariff disagreements between his country and the United States.

The intimation having been made at the Treasury Department that Russia had taken the latest step in retaliating for the imposition of the highest known duty on Russian petroleum, because that Government had become affected with Europe's dread of the industrial and commercial development of this country, the Ambassador was asked to give his view's on this point.

"This intimation," replied Count Cassin, "Is unjust to Russia, I am sure, because it would seem to imply that my country is ready to enter into a commercial coalition with other European countries against the United States. My emphatic opinion is that nothing could be further from the fact regarding the policy of Russia, which is not a trading country and has nothing to fear from the industrial development of America.

mules were excluded. Each competitor had to be "driven" by its mistress.

Comtesse de Sesmaisons and Mme. de

The scene was comical in the extreme, and especially when the Comtesse de Ganay's monkey showed a decided inclination to "go for" the pig.

The race was of short duration, as Mme d'Iturbe's monkey, with runs, leaps and bounds, was an easy winner; the Baronne de Berkheim, with her tortoise, being second, and the Duchesse de Noailler's pheasant, which, by the way, was helped over the cord by a kick from its mistress, third.

HORSE THIEVES ARE AT WORK. One Animal and Three Vehicles Stolen From Doctor Doane.

A horse and three vehicles were stolen from Doctor C. K. Doane's stable, in the rear of his home, at No. 1111 North Grand avenue, Tuesday afternoon and night. Late Tuesday afternoon Doctor Doane's little dauthter noticed a negro who formerty worked for her father, and another negro she did not know, enter the stable. In a few minutes they drove away with the horse attached to the doctor's bugsy. When Doctor Doane returned he notified the police.

Doctor Doane discovered on going to the stable yesterday morning that his other two vehicle, a victoria and a runabout, were missing. It is supposed that the same negroes returned twice in the night and hitched the horse to the vehicles and drove away with them.

goldseckers. These are digging everywhere in the public highway and on private farm land near by.

Hundreds of negroes are refosing employment as farm laborers at deuble the usual wage and are spending all they can beg, borrow or steal in patronizing the army of fortune-tellers and chairvoyants, who are doing a tremendous business telling, in trances or by the carris, where gold may be dug up.

Four weeks age a chairvoyant, to whom Mr. Bisaman went, "just for fun," told him he would find great wealth buried in his own farm. The customer paid the usual fee and departed hunding. A few nights afterwards he had a dream, his first since childhood. In it he thought he dug up a pot of gold.

A few days later an itinerant hypnotist put Brannan's little daughter in a trance, and she described a pot filled with golden coins, which, she said, she could see her father digging out of the mill race on their farm.

Then Brannan, who had laughed at superstition and at all things se-ming occult, began to dig. The result was that after digging for three weeks he found the old iron pot in the mill race, and it contained green in a safety deposit vanit.

Now, day and night, hundreds of negroes, and, indeed, many white men, are digging for hidden treasure. The surrounding woods are lighted up each night by the flare of the workers' torches. are lighted up each night by the flare of the workers' torches.
